

ABSTRACT

A portable image viewing apparatus includes a casing and a micro display device arranged within the casing. The casing is ergonomically shaped for ease handling by user's hand and is provided with a plurality of buttons thereon for user's operation. The portable image viewing apparatus has a built-in memory or a card reader to access an external memory. Therefore, the portable image viewing apparatus can download image stored in a computer by wired or wireless way.